Bike Identification Form

Complete this form and save it for your records

If your bike is stolen, having the serial number and a detailed description is very important and it increases the chances that the bike will be returned to you if located. Providing the serial number is crucial because it allows police to enter your bike into California's Law Enforcement automated stolen property system. The serial number can usually be found under the bottom of the frame where the pedal cranks revolve. Take pictures of your bike and keep them with this completed form in a safe place.
